LABOR ATTACKS CURLEY

JEROME FIGHTS THAW BAIL

NEMESIS SCORES RULING

Word came today from New York that William Travers Jerome and other New York State officials are preparing a desperate fight to prevent Harry K. Thaw's release on bail. The coming legal battle will be more bitter and more strenuously contested than any proceeding since Thaw's escape, according to Jerome and to Attorney General Carmody.

This announcement followed upon the publication of the full report of the commission which declared Thaw is sane and that his release will not menace the public safety. Upon this, Dr. Austin Flint, the one expressly declared Thaw is insane, "examination." Well, that's what Jerome does, and Evelyn Thaw predicted something terrible will happen. Dr. Flint is in New York—Evelyn in St. Louis.

"The State of New York will continue its fight to bind Thaw behind the bars at Matteawan, where he belongs," declared Jerome, in discussing the finding of Federal Judge Aldrich's sanity commission. He continued:

"Except that it may afford Thaw an opportunity of reaching some foreign country from which he cannot be extradited to the United States or of killing some one, the report of Judge Aldrich's sanity commission is of no consequence.

"CASE UNAFFECTED."

"My personal opinion is that the finding of the commission means nothing so far as the actual merits of the dispute in question is concerned. The only question involved in the proceedings before Judge Aldrich at Concord is whether or not the Governor of New Hampshire acted legally when he granted extradition papers.

"Whatever may be the question to be decided it will go to the Supreme Court of the United States. I am sure we would appear if reversed.

MINISTERS FOR KENNY

Mexico to Exhibit at the Panama Fair

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 12.—An attack was made on the United States administration today by the Mexican government through the medium of an announcement by the ministry of Fomento that Mexico would participate in the Panama-Pacific exposition. The announcement follows:

"It would not be dignified or proper for Mexico to slight the cordial invitation extended by the American people, who really are not responsible for their government's Mexican policy. The exposition is an international affair and our country has a special interest in it. We will consider the organization of exhibits to give Mexico a worthy representation."

Chalmers Condemns Sunday Baseball

State Senator Thomas Chalmers of New Hampshire condemned Sunday baseball today at a meeting of the Lord's Day League of New England in Park Street Church. "We all like to see a game of baseball and we are willing to be called baseball fans," said the Senator, who is also pastor of the First Congregational church, Manchester, "but I say that baseball magnates have no right to defy the sanctity of the Sabbath." Dan Crawford, a missionary from the Congo, Africa, also pleaded for respect for Sunday.

Dr. Lane Says Sex Can Be Determined

Osteopathy was announced as the newest solution to the much talked of problems of eugenics by Dr. A. M. Lane of Boston at the annual convention of the Massachusetts Osteopathic Association at the Copley-Plaza Hotel today. The most startling statement heard in the convention was the positive assertion by Dr. Lane that sex can be determined by perfectly natural laws. "We break nature's laws," said the speaker. "Nature does not break our laws. By a conformity with the fundamental principles of the natural laws of sex determination the speaker claimed that he had, invariably, found success in proving his claim regarding this matter."

MOTHER AND GIRL DIE BY GAS

FITCHBURG, Jan. 12.—Mrs. Adelbie E. Perkins, a well-known social leader and clubwoman and wife of a prominent physician, was found dead of gas poisoning in her home here today. Soon after the discovery the body of her nine-year-old daughter, Dorothy.

Medical Examiner Thompson pronounced the mother a suicide. It said he had not decided whether or not the daughter also died purposely or met death accidentally.

That the mother had not planned her daughter's death was indicated by a note the dead woman wrote before turning on the gas. In this note she said:

"I have been very ill. Dear Archie, take good care of dear Dorothy."

Three doctors who were summoned declared that Mrs. Perkins had been suddenly seized with a fit of impulsive insanity.

In the next room to where the two bodies were found Dr. Perkins, the husband and father, lay sleeping. A maid smelled gas, went to Dorothy's room and found her dead body. Then she screamed and awoke the doctor.

The latter tried emergency methods and summoned other physicians. The pulmotor was used in an hour the instrument was used in an endeavor to bring back life to the little girl.

Dr. Perkins collapsed later. It became frantic and his friends declared he was heartbroken by the double tragedy in his home.

Medical Examiner Thompson declared that in the room he found evidence that little Dorothy had tried to put out the fire in the gas stove before she died. This indication might have been overlooked in the case had not burn marks appeared on the head of the child.

Mrs. Perkins told the authorities that she remembered indistinctly having left the house during the night. She recalled also having seen the gas stove burning when she closed the door. To a gas stove was found turned on.

Mrs. Perkins had been in poor health for some time and was subject to nervous attacks. She had been a member of the Fitchburg Woman's Club and was prominent in its social set. She was forty-four years old.

CURLEY ACCUSED OF GIVING SUPPORT TO "L" STRIKE-BREAKERS

elevated system's strike of a year ago, says:

"Mr. Conners of Ward 12, a lieutenant of Mr. Curley and a member of the Tammany Club, broke in strike-breakers at the Division 4 car barn, and later at Frank's Corner car barn. There are no pleas in the affidavit identifying with the attempt made to break the strike when was being conducted by the L" enjoyment. Mr. Connors was sent to the Common Council through the influence of Mr. Curley. He was later elected to the Legislature.

"Following his term in the Legislature he secured a position in the Boston Elevated. Between the beginning of the strike and the termination of Mr. Curley. And it was from the apartment of Mr. Curley that he went out to run the strike breakers of the L.

"I am informed that many of the strike-breakers were sent to him from Tammany Club."

There is no attempt to make of Mr. Connors or his connection with the "L" road as a subject for political attack. I want to particularly call attention to the fact that he is all for Kenny, and he was elected by Mr. Curley. And yet, Mr. Curley is trying to persuade the citizens of Ward 12 that he is in sympathy with the Honey Fitzgerald fieldom."

MAYOR'S FRIENDS FOR KENNY.

One big fact which itself upon was the report that Mayor Fitzgerald to be elected Kenny would be elected Mayor.

Mayor Fitzgerald's friends have openly worked for Kenny, and although the Mayor himself has made no announcement of his stand, it is freely rumored that he backs Kenny to win.

Martin Lomasney did not intend first to take any decisive stand in either candidate. He kept himself concentrated until finally he came to the conclusion that he would be on the State House. He said that he was not for either Lomasney would not be for Curley. Last night, however, he left town and workers that he believed in Kenny.

"I have not made my position public," he said, "I do not want 'Lomasney' to be made an issue in the campaign, and, therefore, since the matter has been a position to put some matters for candidates on file for the mayoralty, I do not want to make my position public. Personally, I am for Kenny. I'm loyal to them, but it can cause the public injury."

M. Lomasney's call for the City Council urged the voters of the entire city to vote for their ward candidates. J. McDonald and Henry H. Brann, while in previous years Lomasney voted for more than one Ford, J. Copeland and in previous years voted for Republican candidates.

For the second Committee to placard H. Sennott and Frederick L. Hogan.

Mr. Lomasney declined to comment on Mr. Lomasney's declaration.

REPUBLICANS COMING OUT.

Mr. Lomasney's declaration will tend to solidify the Republican vote in this city. It means that thousands of Republicans who have been voting Democratic tickets now will see the importance of voting to the polls tomorrow and vote for Kenny. Kenny's election on this eleventh hour decision of Mr.

Lomasney to support Mr. Curley means the election of Mr. Kenny by an overwhelming and decisive majority.

The size of Kenny's majority appears much in question. The result depends of course in that it will be large, probably about 20,000, as Kenny himself expects.

Curley claims the city today by 25,000.

GRAND JURY MEETS.

District Attorney Pelletier had not been summoned for the Grand Jury probe in connection with alleged fraudulent jurats, which opened today. The Grand Jury will hear many witnesses as possible before nightfall, when it will adjourn until Wednesday, on account of the legal holiday election day. E. A. Filene, Dr. Myles Standish and Frederick Fleming were witnesses today.

Kenny refrained from Sunday speechmaking, but Curley held several rallies.

Betting odds today were even, although several mutual contracts in 10 stations gave Kenny the favorite.

Kenny will speak in every ward of the city today. A grand windup of his campaign is promised when, starting at midnight from the corner of Dudley street and Washington street, there will be a torchlight parade through many of the principal streets of Roxbury, ending at Florence square. Thousands will be in the line. Kenny will be turned along the route and floodlights will be set.

WIFE DEFENDS LEWIS IN BABY DEATH CASE

PITTSFIELD, Jan. 12.—Mrs. Joseph Ward Lewis today declared she did not blame her husband, a prominent attorney and member of the law firm of Niles & Lewis, who is accused by his former stenographer, Miss Malvina Du Freane, the Lenox girl under arrest in the Orange Memorial Hospital at Orange, N. J., charged with strangling her day-old baby.

Mrs. Lewis has been in communication with her husband, who has has been joined in New York by his partner, Clarence P. Niles. She refuses to discuss the case, but declared her husband would return to Pittsfield today or tomorrow and make a statement.

The story told by Miss Du Freane has caused a sensation in Pittsfield, where both are well known. The girl graduated from high school here and after finishing a course in a business college went to work in Lewis' office as his stenographer, where she remained until last November. She was taken ill and went to the hospital at Orange. Her child, barely twenty-four hours old, was found strangled in an ante room. She was arrested and Lewis' name was brought out in her answers to the police.

The young woman's grief over the death of her baby is pitiful. In the hospital at Orange she cries and moans constantly and protests her innocence.

MISS SIGOURNEY HAS COMING OUT BALL TONIGHT

By ELIZABETH ELLIOTT.

One of the prominent bud affairs of tonight will be the ball which Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sigourney of Beacon street are giving at the Somerset for their debutante daughter. Miss Edith Sigourney, and at which the pretty daughter-in-law, Mrs. Henry L. Sigourney, Jr., who before her marriage was Helene Putnam, will be much in evidence. Young Mrs. Sigourney and her charming debutante sister-in-law are the best of pals and the interesting young matron has been doing much in honor of her young relative throughout the Winter. Mrs. Sigourney, who is well to the fore among the most popular of the younger matrons, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Putnam and was married before she made her debut. Mrs. Sigourney was to have been presented the Winter following, but preferred being a bride to being a debutante and so was allowed by her parents to have her way.

VINCENT ASTOR SEES NO HOPE IN SOCIALISM

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Vincent Astor, to whom Upton Sinclair appealed in an effort to induce the young millionaire to use his vast fortune to aid Socialism as a cure for prevalent miseries, made public his reply today through the AMERICAN. In a letter which he mailed to Mr. Sinclair, the young philanthropist says:

"I am personally associated with various organizations which are interested in the study of sociological questions. I am one of three members of the leading officers of the American Federation of Labor and the heads of the railway brotherhoods, whose lives and energies are devoted to the study and to the welfare of the railroad and industrial problems to which your letter refers.

"I have had the benefit of their experience and I believe myself somewhat familiar with their views and their general policies. It is not overstating the matter to say that all of those members of the labor organizations whom I have met accepts your philosophy as a cure for the evils which we all recognize and deplore. On the contrary, they reject as fallacious and impracticable the programme of the Socialistic party in whose interest you speak.

"I feel that they are influenced by the serious evils which have attended our industrial development only to be all the more irradicated without overturning the fundamental basis upon which our present social and social fabric is founded.

"I am convinced, not alone from a study of actual investigations and the views of experienced social workers but from the testimony of the representatives of labor to whom I have referred—men whom the great mass of the working people of our country have authorized to speak for them—that the condition of the laboring people has greatly improved during the last few generations.

"I am anxious to see his answer and read such a statement and consider carefully the points in it, as anything you and will assert that we are moving today with the speed of an avalanche into one of the most terrific catastrophes in the history of mankind.

THERRIEN GIRL QUESTIONED ON WALSH DEATH

NEW BEDFORD, Jan. 12.—Sensations for the combined delegates and visitors of this city, demanding, as a result of the death of Annie Walsh by decapitation on a coal lorry here, the immediate closing of all saloons with side doors and back rooms, even to the license commissioners to act.

Twenty-four-year-old Flora Therrien, daughter of Louis Therrien, was in court here charged with being an old disorderly, to insure her detention as a witness at the inquest held later. Her father was arrested with the murdered girl, and pleaded guilty and paid $10 fine. Capt. Captain Walsh, after attending the inquest, questioned about her father's whereabouts at the hour of the murder.

The theory of the police in taking action is that they are inclined to doubt Therrien's story of finding the murdered girl's body on the coal lorry in the manner stated by him. Therrien still is held as a witness.

for Men, Women and Children
At ½ to ⅓ Off

This remarkable sale began this morning, paralleling a great event first held at this time in 1905 and repeated every year since.

The success of this sale, year after year, has been because we have offered seasonable and desirable merchandise at prices no higher than asked elsewhere for the other kind.

The sale should be more successful this year than ever before, because the supply of underpriced merchandise is much larger—planned for two days' selling, today and tomorrow.

History of This Sale
January, 1905—We nearly sold out in one day the large stock of Gross & Strauss—a well-known apparel shop that had decided to go out of business.
January, 1906—This day was stormy, and we did not quite equal the 1905 sale.
January, 1907—This day set a new high-water mark for sales at Filene's, log as our records were.
January, 1908—And here we went ahead of 1907—by thousands of dollars.
January, 1909—Again ahead and again by a large amount.
January, 1910—Exceeded all previous records by many thousands of dollars.
January, 1911—Beat even the 1910 figures, though it was one of the coldest days of the winter.
January, 1912—Heavy snow and rain—but another decided increase in business.
January, 1913—First in the new store—nearly doubled previous high best record.

TO TANGO OR NOT TO TANGO BECOMES THE PROBLEM OF NATIONS

To tango or not to tango!

That's the big issue of the day. It's being discussed everywhere, Boston, New England, the nation, all over the world. It's got to be an international question. The tango seems to be all the go.

Saturday the score was one hundred for the tango, 220 plus the Rev. Peter Roddity in a lump.

Against: 29 plus the Lynn automobiles in a lump.

Today brought a big boost in the total on both sides. Here is today's line-up:

FOR.	AGAINST.
Back Bay society folk.	Portland women, corporations.
Mrs. James Lee Laidlaw.	Mayor Curtis Guild.
New York Men's Dancing Masters' Association.	Police of Modern Gotham.
Mrs. Vernon Castle.	Mrs. Frederic R. Coudert.
The White House.	Health of Boston.
Mme. Melba.	Alice Roosevelt.
Mme. Olga P. Maximova.	Jersey City school authorities.
Duchess of Rutland.	Mrs. Wiggin.
Lady Diana Manners.	Mrs. Spring.
Mrs. Richard Aldrich.	Mrs. Hooper.
Miss Elsie Janis.	Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth.
All the New York folks use one.	Quick Step of Flag Society.
Hon. George Daniel Pollen.	Mrs. Fairchild.
Hadley of Jersey City.	Mrs. Joan Richards Hall.
Miss James J. Storrow.	Mrs. Storrs of Lexington.
Miss Phillips Brooks.	Mrs. Wilson.
Gamma Delta Society.	Mrs. Thomas of Pennsylvania.
Mrs. Frederic R. Coudert.	Chief of Police Kerr of Boston.
University of Michigan Dancing Association.	Mrs. Wilson of Boston.
Ambassador at Vienna.	Robert Lewis Walsh of Portland.
Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Castle of New York.
Professor Casimiro Ahumada.
Teacher of King Alfonso.
Mrs. William Astor Chanler.
Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt.
Viscount Astor and his fiancee.
Miss J. Borden Harriman.
Harris and Burrows de Mevey.
Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr.
Mrs. Reginald Vanderbilt.
Prince Sapieha.
Lord Robert Innes-Ker.
Lord Charles Beresford.

ON GOES THE TANGO.

Meanwhile the tango rage just rages, with tango shoes, tango shirts and tango this, that and the other thing on the market to keep the delusion at fever heat.

Rev. Dr. Frederick E. Heath, associate pastor of the Warren Avenue Baptist Church, after seeing the tango danced at the Hotel Westminster, declared that it may be all right for the experts, whom he saw, but that it is not "safe for young people generally."

Says Mrs. James Lee Laidlaw: "I am amused the tango in my harsh criticism. It can be danced with the highest decorum."

Over at Harvard a hundred students are dancing the tango and the other end-sters under expert instructors at the Hemenway Gymnasium. In the hotel ballrooms of Boston and New York and the other big cities tango teas—"these dansants" officially and socially—are all the go.

At Portland, Me., just before sailing for Rome, Bishop Louis Walsh denounced the tango dance as immoral.

GETTING FLAT FEET.

Out at Ann Arbor the professors of Michigan University make the half-cocked assertion that the students are getting flat feet. The waiting tango shows no sensation. The tango is Medicine Chief of Police Kerr says he is determined to stop all the tango dancing there is in that city.

Word from Washington says that Mme. Miloss Wilson, daughter of the President, dances the modern steps gracefully and find a mild setting of the tango has been introduced into the White House. Honolulu, Ind., claims a dispatch, say the university authorities there have barred the tango.

Coming over on the liner Battle Mount, Virginia Raine and Helen Patterson tangoed on the deck with skirts and shoes of their own design. Mrs. Anna White, a religious teacher, conducted from Europe declared the tango was the last straw, and that it was the limit of immorality and sin. The Rev. Otis N. Lemon, authorities have barred the fox trot as immoral.

The French dramatic critic, in an article on the tango, affirms and say it is first cousin to the Parisian Apache dance. Paul Bourget, in Paris, says the tango is O. K. and that the dancers are "preparing in the dance" for marriage.

Words of PRAISE From Cabinet Members

"Excellent, admirable," says the Sec'y of State

August 13, 1913.

Mr. Willis J. Abbot, New York:

My Dear Mr. Abbot—Your book "Panama and the Canal" is an admirable volume—the story is most interesting, the illustrations are profuse and illuminating and the workmanship excellent. The book is worthy of your reputation and of the gigantic engineering enterprise which has put Panama on the World-Map.

I am, very truly yours. W. J. BRYAN.

From the Secretary of the Treasury

August 13, 1913.

Dear Mr. Abbot—From the cursory glance I have given your book on Panama I feel sure that it contains much of interest, and I shall take a great deal of pleasure in reading it more carefully.

Sincerely yours. W. G. M'ADOO.

From the Vice President of the United States

Washington, August 21, 1913.

My Dear Friend Abbot—I was delightfully surprised the other evening to receive a copy of your work upon Panama. Typographically it is a thing of beauty; and as for its accuracy, I know you so well as to believe it all. If it appeals as it should you will have scored a great success. Sincerely yours,

THOMAS R. MARSHALL.

"Finest," says the Secretary of the Navy

August 13, 1913.

Willis J. Abbot, Esq., care Lotus Club, New York City:

My Dear Sir—"Panama and the Canal in Picture and Prose" whets my anticipation of visiting the Canal this Winter after the water has been turned in and when the Fleet is to go through. I have never seen a finer piece of work, for its style, its illustrations and its typography. I am delighted with it.

Yours sincerely. JOSEPH DANIELS.

These Men Are in a Position to Know

Has Been in Panama

FROM MEMBER OF SENATE COMMITTEE ON INTEROCEANIC CANALS.

August 15, 1913.

My Dear Mr. Abbot—I shall read "Panama and the Canal in Picture and Prose" with a great deal of pleasure, but the pleasure will be largely enhanced by the fact that as a member of the Committee on Interoceanic Canals I visited the Canal in October, 1911, and the half-tone cuts in the volume recall more vividly than anything else in the scenes I visited. C. S. PAGE.

Calls It "Excellent, Satisfactory"

FROM THE CHAIRMAN OF INTERSTATE COMMERCE HOUSE COMMITTEE.

August 15, 1913.

My Dear Mr. Abbot—I have examined with great pleasure and admiration your exquisite book on Panama. Of all the works relating to that matchless enterprise with which I am acquainted this product of your genius is most excellent and satisfactory. As a contribution to history, geography, literature, artistic arrangement and illustration it is a triumph of art. Yours truly,

W. C. ADAMSON.

"Fascinated" with the Romance

FROM A LEADING PROGRESSIVE SENATOR.

August 12, 1913.

Dear Abbot—I am fascinated with your book, as I was with the Isthmus itself. It is fortunate that one so well equipped as yourself has written just at this time the story of this interesting place. You have caught its spirit, its romance and beauty.

Very truly yours,
MILES POINDEXTER.

Commendatory Endorsements From the Leaders

Everyone Should Have It

FROM THE MAJORITY LEADER IN SENATE.

August 13, 1912.

My Dear Mr. Abbot—Your new book is a "thing of beauty and a joy forever." It should be in the hands of everybody, and especially those who are not able to visit the Isthmus in person. After reading your splendid descriptions and looking at the fine illustrations no one can fail to have a complete and accurate knowledge of every subject concerning the Isthmus. Yours very truly,

JNO. W. KERN.

Says Book Will Be Prized

FROM THE MAJORITY LEADER IN THE HOUSE

August 13, 1913.

My Dear Mr. Abbot—The book is a graphic presentation of the facts concerning this greatest of all modern contributions to the world's progress and the ability of authors. Your style of treatment makes it as interesting as it is informative, and it will be prized both by those who have visited the Canal Zone and those who have that great pleasure yet in view.

Sincerely yours,
O. W. UNDERWOOD.

Best Panama Book Published

FROM MEMBER OF SENATE COMMITTEE ON INTERSTATE COMMERCE.

August 18, 1913.

Dear Mr. Abbot—"Panama and the Canal in Picture and Prose" is the most interesting and attractive work on Panama I have ever seen. It contains the complete story from Columbus to the present, and I have no doubt it will be readily recognized as the most useful compilation of facts relating to our Canal interests in Panama now published.

Sincerely yours,
CHAS. E. TOWNSEND.

It is impossible to print all the Washington letters in this announcement. These endorsements from men filling the most prominent offices in the nation and those connected directly with the work at Panama should convince you of the great value of this masterpiece.

Here are a few scattering sentences from the letters of leading Senators and Congressmen:

Senator John Sharp Williams says: "Splendidly illustrated and written."

This from Senator T. E. Burton, of Ohio: "A very valuable contribution to the bibliography of the country."

From Senator Wm. J. Stone, Chairman of Senate Committee on Indian Affairs: "Most interesting and valuable, complete in detail, inspiring, pleasing style, model of typographic art."

Senator Robt. M. La Follette says: "Pleasing, attractive, entertaining, informing."

Senator Jos. E. Ransdell, of Louisiana: "Most thorough work of its kind; shows untiring effort."

This is from Congressman Henry A. Barnhart: "Fascinating literary style—a new beacon light of history, with a description truly thrill on every page."

Congressman Frank Clark, of Florida, says: "Best book on the subject."

Senator Wm. S. Kenyon says: "Magnificent book—have visited Isthmus—most readable book I know."

From Congressman Henry George, Jr., of New York: "Packed with information—amazing adventures—style clear and flowing."

John L. Burnett, Alabama Congressman: "Excellent book—style and fiction entertaining—illustrations beautiful."

WILL SEEK TO HAVE HARRY THAW ARRESTED IF HE ATTEMPTS TO LEAVE NEW HAMPSHIRE

JEROME SAYS ADMISSION TO BAIL HAS NO BEARING ON EXTRADITION.

and certainly the other side will keep up the fight. And you may bet a fortune on the decision of the Supreme Court. It will say that Governor Felker acted right in granting the extradition, and Thaw would be brought back to the State of New York and put back into the Matteawan asylum for the insane.

"But before he was again put in the asylum, he will be tried on charges of conspiracy in connection with his escape from that institution. Ultimately, however, he will land in Matteawan. Mark my words.

"If he is found guilty of conspiracy he will probably be put in the penitentiary, but from the penitentiary he would be transferred to Matteawan. That is where he belongs and that is where he is going.

"There is a chance, however, that the courts may readjudge him insane in connection with the conspiracy case, but he could be sent to a Matteawan as a prisoner.

CALLS THAW PARANOIAC.

"The opinion is held, and no doubt rightly that the commission that passed on Thaw's sanity at Concord, N. H., was not properly enlightened as to Thaw's real mental condition.

"I am ready to admit that Thaw probably has showed no signs of violence since he was in the custody of the New Hampshire authorities. We did not expect him to. He is a paranoiac and paranoiacs are not violent except toward the objects of their delusions. Thaw showed no signs of violence at Matteawan. Not one in twenty of the paranoiacs confined there, and Matteawan holds more paranoiacs than any other institution in America, is violent except toward the objects of his delusion.

"You just look Thaw up in a room with his wife, Dr. Flint, Evidence Nicoll and Dr. Allan McLane Hamilton and see whether or not he will grow violent. He has nothing against his keepers in New Hampshire. They were not the objects of his delusion.

"I don't look for Thaw to make a break for liberty if he is liberated on bail in New Hampshire. My impression is that he has not got nerve enough to do that. But it is impossible to say what developments may mark his course.

"We don't propose to let Harry K. Thaw get away if there is any way of preventing it," said Attorney-General Carmody today.

"I probably will consult with Former District Attorney Jerome, who has acted as special deputy attorney general in the Thaw proceedings. I do not believe the New Hampshire authorities have given proper recognition to New York State's rights in this case.

"It is inconceivable that Thaw should be released on bail after Governor Felker of New Hampshire has recognized and signed the extradition papers, ordering Thaw's return to New York State."

The Attorney General declared he will seek Thaw's arrest if the latter attempts to leave New Hampshire.

The full text of the report of the commission which found Thaw sane, and which declared his release would not menace the public safety, is made public today.

The full report has been filed in the Federal Court at Concord, N. H., with Judge Edgar Aldrich, now slightly indisposed at his son's home in Brookline, will shortly give a hearing upon Thaw's petition for bail. Following that hearing it is expected Thaw will be released under bond.

Pending the bail hearing the whole case was before the court in addition to the commission's sanity report—signed by General Frank S. Streeter of Concord, Dr. Morton Prince of Boston, Dr. G. Peller Brumer of Providence and Dr. Charles F. Bancroft of Concord—was an endless source of discussion.

COMMISSION'S REPORT.

The commission's formal report as filed with the federal clerk of courts follows:

Report from Commission, filed January 10, 1914.

To the Honorable Edgar Aldrich:

We, the undersigned, appointed a commission under an order of December 17, 1913, to advise the court whether it is reasonably probable that Harry K. Kendall Thaw, if liberty under bail would be dangerous or a menace to the public peace and safety, having concluded our observations and examinations and fully considered the same, report as follows, namely:

1—The Commission took and filed the oath required by the order.

2—AUTHORITY AND DUTY. By the order of the court the commission was not appointed for the purpose of listening to experts upon an adversary hearing; but for making such observations and examinations as it saw fit to make with reference to Thaw's present condition; and whether he is insane or not the opinion of the commission is sought upon the single and sole question above stated. Authority was conferred on the commission to give all interested parties leave to appear and offer evidence, if any, since Thaw's committal to Matteawan February 1, 1908, tending to show personal violence or any manifestations of a tendency or disposition to do physical harm.

AVOID HISTORY.

3—GENERAL STATEMENT. The detailed history of the Thaw case prior to this proceeding is notorious and need not be recited here. The following statement is made for a better understanding of the methods adopted, character and extent of the observations and examinations made and the ground upon which the conclusions of the Commission are based.

4—On a second trial in January, 1908, the jury returned a verdict of acquittal on the ground that Thaw was insane at the time of the homicide, June 25, 1906. In rendering judgment upon the verdict Justice Nicoll and Dr. Allan McLane Hamilton did not see whether or not he will grow violent. He has nothing against his keepers in New Hampshire. They were not the objects of his delusion.

To the Honorable Edgar Aldrich:

We, the undersigned, appointed a commission under an order of December 17, 1913, to advise the court whether it is reasonably probable that Harry Kendall Thaw, if liberty under bail would be dangerous or a menace to the public peace and safety, having concluded our observations and examinations and fully considered the same, report as follows, namely:

The following statement is made for a better understanding of the methods adopted, character and extent of the observations and examinations made and the ground upon which the conclusions of the Commission are based.

4—On a second trial in January, 1908, the jury returned a verdict of acquittal on the ground that Thaw was insane at the time of the homicide, June 25, 1906. In rendering judgment upon the verdict Justice Nicoll declared that the form of insanity and the only form which the jury could have had in the testimony was "manic-depresse" insanity. The court deemed it a disclosure which at that time to be dangerous to the public safety ordered that for the time being he be detained in safe custody at the Matteawan State Hospital. He was committed to Matteawan February 1, 1908, and there detained until his escape August 17, 1913.

READ HOSPITAL RECORDS.

5—Examining boards of testimony and documents. We had before us the official record or case-book of the Matteawan State Hospital showing all the entries made therein relating to Thaw from January 1, 1908, to August 17, 1913. These entries included the history of the case, recorded on his entrance and his various mental examinations made by the hospital superintendents and their assistants in the performance of their official duty. Among these examinations was one made by the superintendent and his assistants in November, 1913, covering about 175 pages of typewritten question and answer. We also had before us the transcript of three cross-examinations of Thaw by counsel representing the State of New York on habeas corpus proceeding instituted by or on behalf of Thaw. The first was the cross-examination before Justice Morschauser in May, 1908. The second before Justice Mills in July and August, 1909. And the third before Justice Keogh, beginning June 1, 1912. All these cross-examinations were of great length and covered the most searching inquiry into Thaw's mental condition and attitude. Not only at the date of the respective examinations, but with reference to all the acts of his life.

If the cross-examiner omitted to inquire into any detail of Thaw's acts, thoughts, feelings or mental processes, before or leading up to or subsequent to the homicide, June, 1906, that omission is not apparent from the transcript of cross-examination before us. In this way we have had photographs more or less distinct of Thaw's mental condition on the dates above mentioned, and his then mental attitude with reference to all the acts of his life. We also had before us various exhibits, letters, and other documents used upon the two trial for homicide and in other proceedings, some of which were furnished by counsel for the State of New York, and some by Thaw's counsel.

6—On January 7 a public hearing was held at which all interested parties were given leave to appear and offer evidence in respect to acts, if any, since the committal of Harry K. Thaw to Matteawan, February 1, 1908, tending to show personal violence or any manifestation of a tendency or disposition to do physical harm, and evidence to the contrary. Counsel for the State of New York declined to appear, on the alleged ground that our power under the order of the court was inadequate to a determination of the question submitted. Counsel appeared for Thaw and offered evidence of his custodians since September 15, 1913, on the above question, which evidence was received and considered.

6—Mental examinations by the commission—We began our mental examination of Thaw on December 22, continued the same on the twenty-fourth, resumed on the twenty-ninth and thirtieth, and from time to time thereafter, until the preparation of this report.

These examinations covered a searching inquisition into all the acts of his life, including a review of the statements thereon, made in the various cross-examinations above referred to. They also included an examination of his present and former mental attitude with reference to all his acts prior to, at the time of, and subsequent to the homicide, and a comparison of his present statements with those made on the former examinations above referred to.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATION.

a—Physical examination—We also made a careful physical examination which will be hereafter referred to. The foregoing is intended as a summary of the work of the commission, and not as a complete or detailed statement.

4—To determine the immediate question before us, our inquisition was necessarily directed to four points.

a—A careful physical examination to determine the presence or absence of structural or functional disturbances of the nervous system.

b—The conduct of Harry K. Thaw since his committal to Matteawan State Hospital on February 1, 1908, up to the present time.

c—Whether he is now suffering from such a disease of the mind, or whether his present condition of mind, whatever it may be, is of such character as to predispose to acts of violence independently of the narrower question whether such acts actually have been committed since his imprisonment or not.

d—The circumstances and conditions which outwardly and inwardly led to the homicide on June 25, 1906, and the probable condition of mind of Harry K. Thaw at that time.

In its study and deliberation the commission has in the main confined its attention to facts, preferring to attach little importance for its purpose to the conflicting opinions of experts and other witnesses in adversary hearings.

As the result of this careful search for the truth, and having had

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Dr. Britton D. Evans, head of the New Jersey State Hospital for the Insane, who testified in Thaw's behalf at the first trial, said:

"Thaw would have been a free man years ago if he and his family had not had money and the tribunals before which his case has been tried had not felt that, if they rendered a decision such as had been rendered for centuries in similar cases or causes, that some important newspaper or some expression of public opinion would have been presented intimating that Thaw's money or the money of his family had influenced such judicial decisions."

THAW'S WIFE SAYS HUSBAND WILL GO BACK TO WILD LIFE

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 12.—Dwight Nesbit Thaw, who is said to be a cousin of Harry Thaw, and head of the New Hampshire commission's decision as to her husband, said:

"I know something. Lyon will soon come out. Shall I do it with your consent?" Mrs. Thaw replied: "I don't want you to do anything at that moment. It is a matter of time. Now that they are going to set him free they will not be satisfied until something tragical happens."

"What does she mean? It will be" was continued. "I can't have to wait long unless he starts right away to Matteawan. And he is a fool if he doesn't. But I have no fear of him. His antipathy is not against me personally as much as it is my profession."

"Why, he never attempted to escape from Matteawan until I had made arrangements for his escape.

"He would be all right if he would only forget champagne. But he can't do it."

Mrs. Thaw was asked what she would do if her husband was set free, since she should look out and see indictment.

"Why," she said, pausing for a moment, "I would go on as though he were not within a thousand miles."

"THAT'S WHAT MONEY DOES," DR. FLINT SAYS OF THAW CASE

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Dr. Austin Flint, who was the foremost alienist of Harry Thaw, and who has repeatedly declared the Pittsburgher insane, when told of the findings of the commission, said:

"Well, that's what they were appointed for. That's what money does."

He was asked whether his anticipated any attempt by Thaw upon his life.

"I will not go to the trouble of carrying a pistol. I have not such a great while to live. I will trust to luck.

"He might attempt to kill his wife or shoot me. Thaw has, I think, more resentment against me than against Jerome in all probability, but he would do his dirty work in the case.

Dioxogen should be promptly applied to every skin break. This is the safe way to prevent infection. A scratch—an insect bite—a pin prick—neglected—may cause blood poisoning. The sure preventive is

Dioxogen

It destroys the poison—works out all foreign matter—cleanses the wound and prepares the way for quick healing.

Dioxogen is the very purest Peroxide of Hydrogen—full strength and clever varies.

You cannot trust common Peroxides.

They vary in strength and are preserved with other chemicals which are always questionable in character. Acetanilid—used to "preserve" common Peroxides—causes the disagreeable taste and smell so objectionable in toilet use.

Dioxogen is always pure. It needs no acetanilid to "preserve" it. Get Dioxogen and you will be sure.

You can get genuine Dioxogen in sealed bottles only in any reliable drug store. Dioxogen—which is the name of the purest Peroxide of Hydrogen—is made only by

The Oakland Chemical Company
98 Front Street New York

Keep it in the house always. It's indispensable in emergencies.

Druggists know all about Dioxogen and the reliable ones prefer to sell it.

No reputable druggist will trade and reputation by offering cheap substitute Peroxides in place of pure Dioxogen.

Ask for Dioxogen by name.

Accept nothing in its place.

Dioxogen is always sold in a sealed container for your protection. See that this container is sealed when you buy.

REPORT OF THE COMMISSION SHOWS GREAT STUDY BEFORE DECISION.

The report of the commission which declared Thaw sane, and which declared his release would not menace the public safety, is made public today.

The report has been filed in the Federal Court at Concord, N. H., with Judge Edgar Aldrich, now slightly indisposed at his son's home in Brookline, will shortly give a hearing upon Thaw's petition for bail. Following that hearing it is expected Thaw will be released under bond.

Pending the bail hearing the whole case was before the court in addition to the commission's sanity report—signed by General Frank S. Streeter of Concord, Dr. Morton Prince of Boston, Dr. G. Peller Brumer of Providence and Dr. Charles F. Bancroft of Concord—was an endless source of discussion.

The commission's report, as filed with the federal clerk of courts, follows:

Report from Commission, filed January 10, 1914.

To the Honorable Edgar Aldrich:

We, the undersigned, appointed a commission under an order of December 17, 1913, to advise the court whether it is reasonably probable that Harry Kendall Thaw, if liberty under bail would be dangerous or a menace to the public peace and safety, having concluded our observations and examinations and fully considered the same, report as follows, namely:

1—The Commission took and filed the oath required by the order.

2—AUTHORITY AND DUTY. By the order of the court the commission was not appointed for the purpose of listening to experts upon an adversary hearing; but for making such observations and examinations as it saw fit to make with reference to Thaw's present condition; and whether he is insane or not the opinion of the commission is sought upon the single and sole question above stated. Authority was conferred on the commission to give all interested parties leave to appear and offer evidence, if any, since Thaw's committal to Matteawan February 1, 1908, tending to show personal violence or any manifestations of a tendency or disposition to do physical harm, and evidence to the contrary. Counsel for the State of New York declined to appear, on the alleged ground that our power under the order of the court was inadequate to a determination of the question submitted. Counsel appeared for Thaw and offered evidence of his custodians since September 15, 1913, on the above question, which evidence was received and considered.

4—Mental examinations by the commission—We began our mental examination of Thaw on December 22, continued the same on the twenty-fourth, resumed on the twenty-ninth and thirtieth, and from time to time thereafter, until the preparation of this report.

These examinations covered a searching inquisition into all the acts of his life, including a review of the statements thereon, made in the various cross-examinations above referred to. They also included an examination of his present and former mental attitude with reference to all his acts prior to, at the time of, and subsequent to the homicide, and a comparison of his present statements with those made on the former examinations above referred to.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATION.

a—Physical examination—We also made a careful physical examination which will be hereafter referred to. The foregoing is intended as a summary of the work of the commission, and not as a complete or detailed statement.

4—To determine the immediate question before us, our inquisition was necessarily directed to four points.

a—A careful physical examination to determine the presence or absence of structural or functional disturbances of the nervous system.

b—The conduct of Harry K. Thaw since his committal to Matteawan State Hospital on February 1, 1908, up to the present time.

c—Whether he is now suffering from such a disease of the mind, or whether his present condition of mind, whatever it may be, is of such character as to predispose to acts of violence independently of the narrower question whether such acts actually have been committed since his imprisonment or not.

d—The circumstances and conditions which outwardly and inwardly led to the homicide on June 25, 1906, and the probable condition of mind of Harry K. Thaw at that time.

In its study and deliberation the commission has in the main confined its attention to facts, preferring to attach little importance for its purpose to the conflicting opinions of experts and other witnesses in adversary hearings.

As the result of this careful search for the truth, and having had

CHILDREN LOVE SYRUP OF FIGS

It is cruel to force naus-seating, harsh physic into a sick child.

Look back at your childhood days Remember the "Good mother" instinct on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleaning, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy. They know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

ENDS DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, GAS

"Pape's Diapepsin" cures sick, sour stomachs in five minutes—Time It!

"Really does" put bad stomachs in order—"really does" relieve indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, heartburn and sourness in five minutes—that—just that—makes Pape's Diapepsin the largest selling stomach regulator in the world. If what you eat ferments into stubborn gases, if you belch and eructate sour, undigested food and acid; head is dizzy and achey; breath foul; tongue coated; your insides filled with bile and indigestible waste, remember the moment "Pape's Diapepsin" comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. It's truly astonishing—almost marvelous, and the joy is the harmlessness.

A large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin will give you a hundred dollars' worth of satisfaction or your druggist hands you your money back.

It's worth its weight in gold to men and women who want good stomachs regulated. It belongs in your home—should always be kept handy in case of a sick, sour, upset stomach during the day or night. It's the quickest, surest and most harmless stomach doctor in the world.

"CASCARETS" FOR LIVER, BOWELS

No headache, biliousness, bad taste or constipation by morning.

Get a 10-cent box.

Are you keeping your bowels, liver, and stomach clean, pure and fresh with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passageway every few days with Salts, Cathartic Pills, Castor Oil or Purgative Waters?

Stop buying a bowel wash-day. Let Cascarets thoroughly cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will make you feel great by morning. They work while you sleep—never gripe, sicken or cause any inconvenience, and cost only 10 cents a box from your druggist. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never have Headaches, Biliousness, Coated Tongue, Indigestion, Sour Stomach or Constipated Bowels. Cascarets belong in every household. Children just love to take them.

Dr. Bull's COUGH SYRUP

A racking cough with pains through the chest to the back, short breathing, hoarseness and raising of mucus, is best treated with the tried and dependable Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. Price, 25 cts. Buy it only, and protect your health.

No Morphine or Chloroform.

"I always have Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup in the house for severe coughs and gladly recommend it to the best ever used." Mae Munsen, 4032 Westworth Ave., Chicago, Ill.

NAUGHTON DECLARES "GUNBOAT'S" PUNCH IS A REALITY, AND IT ALONE HAS WON HIM WAY TO FAME

BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTING NEWS

"PORKY" FLYNN GETS CHANCE TO JUMP BACK INTO THE LIMELIGHT AS A BOXER

SMITH'S RIGHT HAND MAKES HIM A RING TERROR

By W. W. NAUGHTON.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12.—Somebody called the Gunboat Smith-Arthur Pelky fight the battle of the right-handers, and I guess that was just what it was.

Incidentally, through the reputation each of the men had acquired for wielding a deadly right, the contest proved a mighty interesting study.

But when it was all over, Jim Buckley's auto-contest remarks were as golden grains of wisdom.

"Pelky's punch is only a suspicion; Gunboat's is a reality."

It was Tommy Burns who gave us the idea that Arthur Pelky was a savage slugger with the right. He was aided and abetted by Pelky's other sparring partners and, for the matter, appearances favored the claims made in that particular respect.

EXPECTED QUICK KNOCKOUT.

When Gunboat and Arthur stood forth to do battle at Daly City on New Year's Day the thought uppermost in the minds of the watchers most in the minds of the watchers was that the first solid right-hander that landed would have a signal influence on the result of the bout.

Maybe Gunboat felt that way about it, too, for after the trifle of feinting and flirting which marks the beginning of so many glove encounters, he cut loose with a right-hand sweep that would have lifted Arthur across the ropes if it had connected.

Pelky was under it like a flash and jumped close with a brace of lifting punches that caught the Gunner just above the waist line.

"By heck, this is getting interesting," said one of the first nighters. "If Pelky sends in many like these, he'll break that slim waisted fellow in two."

PELKY WAS OVERRATED.

The Gunner, lean coupled and all as he is, not only took them without flinching, but fought back with spirit and acted generally like a man who was not troubled with thoughts of an impending knockout.

Then the crowd saw things as they were. They recognized that Pelky's right had been overbuilded and they wondered how long it would be before the Gunner got to work with his "old reliable."

It was interesting to watch the Gunner's confidence increase as Pelky's ebbed. Smith became brisk and Pelky got loggy. But for quite a while the Gunner could not find the jaw with a full sweeping right.

There is a Gunboat Smith-Jack Johnson match looming up, sure as you're born, and it is already hinted that Promoter Coffroth will have something to do with it.

It would not surprise the writer if the event took precedence of all matches that Johnson may have committed himself to.

And when it takes place, I will make bold to say that Johnson will not be a top-heavy favorite, if indeed he be a first choice at all.

As an astute sport remarked, the Johnson of the present day, is barely a moving picture of the Johnson that was from Tommy Burns and Jeffries, while the Gunner is a husky heavy, who has learned his trade in the school of experience and who has crafted onto his natural hitting powers practical ideas of measuring and timing.

Johnson's upper cut, the most dangerous of all is punches, is probably a mere shadow of the blow that brought him fame and it will be of little avail against a rangy fellow like Gunboat.

When all is said, however, it is on the score of conditions that Johnson will be at a disadvantage when he faces Smith. The Gunner's ears will whom the going is furious.

PACKEY ADMITS HE IS REGULAR WELTERWEIGHT

By JACK CONWAY.

PACKEY MCFARLAND has at last come out in the open and frankly admitted that he is a welterweight. By signing to battle Mike Gibbons in New York next month at 145 pounds at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of the bout, the stock yard wizard has forfeited any claim he might have had to a finish with Willie Ritchie for the lightweight championship of the world.

McFarland has been posing as a legitimate lightweight for years and has made unsuccessful attempts to secure title bouts with Battling Nelson, Ad Wolgast and Willie Ritchie. The latter luckless McFarland would have been able to have defeated either Nelson or Wolgast at 133 or 136 pounds, while he would give Ritchie a great fight if the weight were 142 pounds or more.

MCFARLAND, as a result, had a big weight advantage on almost all of his opponents. He has also forced some of the leading lightweights in the country to permit him to enter the ring at 138 pounds. This was the weight at which McFarland fought Tommy Murphy in New York, and it was not a surprise to us when he was Chicago Wolgast won easily. Murphy is one of the regular lightweights in this country and can make 133 pounds ringside if necessary.

THE tables will be reversed when McFarland meets Gibbons. Packey's physical condition will enter the ring weighing about 148 pounds, as he is sure to take on at least three pounds between 4 o'clock and the start of the bout. Packey, on the other hand, can not afford to weigh more than 140 pounds. If he sealed 145 pounds he would be fat, slow and awkward. It is a well-known fact that the majority of boxers are overweight when they are making a reasonable weight, as they are oblized to train hard and faithfully in order to take off all superfluous flesh. Consequently, they enter the ring trained to the minute. Packey is a great boxer, but he can't carry him along at a merry pace.

ALL arrangements have been made for the fifteen-round bout between Joe Chick and Frank Loughrey, which will be staged before the Marseville A. C. in Providence Wednesday night. The men have agreed to weigh in at 145 pounds at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, and a hard, fast battle is expected.

CHICK is a big favorite with Rhode Island fight "fans" as a result of the great battle he put up with Johnny "Kid" Alberts before the Marseville club last month. Chick is a typical fighter and is never so happy as when exchanging blow with an opponent at close quarters.

CHICK and Loughrey have already fought once. The whirl took place in this city last November and was decided a draw after twelve thrilling rounds of boxing. Each of the boxers believes he will be able to better advantage over the fifteen-round route.

MANY of the leading sporting men in Roxbury will attend the dance of the Roxbury Sporting Club which will be held in Hibernian Hall this evening. The Highland district has produced scores of athletic stars and many of them are connected with the Roxbury Sporting Club.

Brooks and West in Chicopee Go

Terry Brooks and Chick West will clash in a twelve-round bout in Chicopee Falls tonight. The contest is expected to be an exciting affair as both men are hard punchers and good fighters. Brooks is one of the hardest hitting lightweights in the country, and believes he will win by a knockout. West also asserts he will land a dream wallop, and as a result the "fans" should witness plenty of action.

Brooks left for Chicopee Falls yesterday afternoon. He was in perfect physical condition as he had been preparing for the match for almost two weeks.

Barney Snyder of Roxbury and Young Sandow of Chelsea will meet in the semi-final "go."

GEORGE E. PHAIR SAYS:

OH, THE LONG AND DREARY WINTER.

I would I were at revel with the Giants and the Sox,
And sailed the bounding billows in the East.
I would not care if tempests put my stomach on the rocks
And would not feed the fish a daily feast.
I would not care if storms arose to put me at my best,
I would not care if hurricanes should rage,
For I could rise each morning and I would not have to read
The baseball dope upon the sporting page.

The grand old public of the U. S. A. likes baseball, but baseball politics is something else again.

You could tie a millstone around a baseball magnate's neck and cast him into the depths of the sea, but it wouldn't make as much difference at the gate as if Ty Cobb had sprained his medulla oblongata or Honus Wagner had developed the gout.

Baseball would be a great little pastime if the owners would only keep in the background—say at a distance of 5,000 miles.

While Mr. Murphy is not particularly enthused over the present state of affairs, he is with the militiey commission heart and soul on the question of passes.

Arthur Pelky wants another fight with Gunboat Smith. That is to say, he is not particularly anxious to fight, but he is willing to accept another purse even if he has to fight for it.

One is not surprised to read that there is perfect concord between Cincinnati's new manager and the board of directors. There always is in Winter.

In view of the fact that Otto Knabe has jumped to Baltimore, it is hard to show Charlie Dooin for feeling red-headed.

Mr. Knabe's naive remark that he is out after the money leads one to suspect that Otto has all the intelligence of a magnate.

WHY THE HOLLER?

"I scorn the lowly Federals;
They are not worth a dollar!"
A magnate hiehe'd when so spoke,
But he raised an awful holler.

FLYNN IN BIG NEW YORK BOUT WITH LEVINSKY

By RINGSIDE.

DAN "PORKY" FLYNN will be given a chance to win back some of his lost ring prestige when he meets Battling Levinsky in a ten-round encounter before the National sporting Club in New York tomorrow night. If the West Side heavyweight wins from Levinsky, he will be boomed by Tom Gilmartin as the logical opponent for Jack Dempsey, while if he is beaten he will be a dead issue among the "white hopes."

Flynn has all the physical qualifications to become a great fighter. He is a powerful giant over six feet tall and weighs close to 220 pounds. Flynn is also a good boxer and has a tremendous reach.

FLYNN, however, seems to lack a fighter's heart, as has been proved time and time again before. He performs like a champion when pitted against third-raters, but when encountering foes of the class owned by men in the heavyweight division he loses confidence in his own ability and is a beaten man in the ball rounds for the opening of the first round.

THE West End boy received the greatest opportunity of his career to make a name for himself within the hemp ropes when he met Sam Langford before the Afro-A. A. in August. The "Tar Baby" was in wretched condition and Flynn would have been able to have vanquished him if he had the courage of a real fighter.

FLYNN probably realizes better than anybody else the great chance he threw away when he met Langford. He says he is undaunted and will try and win back what he lost in that encounter. If Levinsky he will clash with the most sensational heavyweight who has been developed for some time.

FULTZ SHOULD HAVE SENT MEN BACK--GAFFNEY

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—President James E. Gaffney of the Boston Nationals in an interview here, declared that "President Fultz of the Players' Fraternity did not pursue the usual methods that prevail in organized labor by failing to order the members of the players' union to return to their employers."

"My sympathy has been with the Fraternity from the start," said Gaffney, "for I believe in labor organizations.

"Last week the baseball strikers sent a committee of walking delegates to Cincinnati to confer with their employers. The meeting was harmonious and the delegates in a signed statement declared that they were thoroughly satisfied with the concessions granted and that they had been treated with absolute fairness.

"The strike was declared off then, but Mr. Fultz did not pursue the usual methods that prevail in organized labor. He failed to order the members of the players' union to return to their employers. Instead he declared that he would simply advise the players that they were no longer bound by pledges. In all fairness, why doesn't Mr. Fultz take up the cause of organized baseball by advising the players to stick to their old clubs instead of entering an open shop?

"Because It's Better"

Alley's ALE

SIDELIGHTS ON SPORTS By A.H.C. Mitchell

ACCORDING to Manager Higgins of the Cardinals, any one of three cities—St. Louis, Cincinnati or Chicago—could have secured Walter Maranville for a song before he joined the Boston Nationals, but each club passed him up for two reasons—first, because he was two small, and, second, because he couldn't bat.

WHAT the other clubs lost was Boston's gain. The Rabbit is now generally considered the best fielding shortstop in the National League and his batting shows improvement all along.

MARANVILLE has received several offers from the Federal League, but has wisely decided to stick to the Braves.

IT begins to look more and more as if the Feds were confining their attention mainly to National League players. Cady of the Red Sox says he has received offers from the Federals, but he seems to be the exception. Of course, there were Joe Wood and Walter Johnson, but the offers to these men are considered strictly in the nature of a bluff, as the "outlaws" must have known that both these star American League boxmen were under contract to their respective clubs.

EXCEPT these three men there has been no hint that any of the American League stars have been approached by the Feds. Except George Stovall, all the men named to manage clubs in the Federal League are old National League players. There is Joe Tinker, who is to manage the Chicago team; Mordecai Brown, who is to lead the St. Louis team, and Otto Knabe, who is to look after the playing end of the Baltimore team. All three of these have been turned loose by their new employers to secure big league talent. It would only be natural that these men should go after players of the National League. In the first place they have played against them and know their playing worth. In the second place they know them personally and figure they can influence them more easily than they could the American League players, most of whom they know only by reputation.

THERE is not the least doubt in the world but that the big league clubs will have hardier work than ever in signing their players to contracts for the coming season. Even in the calm and peaceful days of the ordinary baseball Winter there are always several men on each club that hold out for more money. What will it be in the coming two months?

EVERY man Jack of the players has the Federal League allibi. Every one of them can pull off the bluff about having received big offers from the Feds. It used to be the Tri-State "outlaws" and then it was the Coast League "outlaws." Now it is the Federal League to make the magnates tear their hair.

TRULY, boys, there are easier things than being the owner of a big league ball club.

Still, we would like to own one, doubtless we?

Auto News

By J. C. KERRISON.

In view of the fact that Boston will be the only big city on the automobile show circuit that will put on a truck show it is no small wonder that Manager Chester I. Campbell is being besieged by the manufacturers for space in the show, which opens in Mechanics building, March 16, and continues until March 21. So big has been the demand for space at this show that it is clear that the coming display will excel all of its predecessors.

The Boston truck show will essentially be for the merchant whose business requires an intimate knowledge of transportation. To him there will be a field of information offered.

Every type of commercial vehicle from the small parcel delivery wagon to the 10-ton motor express will be on display, and the latest types of wagons will be seen many improvements and no profitable hobby and dimming bodies.

Cars that are in the pink in the Winter should be gone over thoroughly. The harder interior of the Winter is far more severe on such spots, or parts not at all, than the rest of the car. Therefore, they should be looked to in the most thorough manner. The starting class consist in accessories and upholstered, for these are the most profitable source of service troubles.

Some drivers have the steering wheel with about quick jerks. This is not good for either the wheel or the car. It is far better to have the wheel in such a position that it is comfortable for the driver to turn it with a continuous movement. This is not difficult to acquire and is much easier than the jerks.

HOBEY BAKER TO PLAY AT BOSTON RINK THIS WEEK

College teams will hold the centre of the stage in local hockey circles this week. Of the four games to be played at the Arena, three will be between college sevens.

One of the big attractions of the week will be "Hobey" Baker, the sensational rush of the Princeton team, who returns here for a game against Dartmouth.

The weekly schedule will send the Dartmouth septet against the Boston Tigers and Pilgrim A. A. and Irish-American A. A. on Wednesday. Harvard will meet the Amherst Aggies and on the following night Princeton and Dartmouth will settle the question of supremacy in the Big Green. Saturday's games will see the Harvard and Dartmouth sevens engaged each other, and judging from the amount of local interest in the game all indications point to a record season will be eclipsed.

Coach Wilson of the Princeton team will make every effort to get up his seven as much as possible, as he realizes the importance of the game with Harvard. Up to date, the absence of the Crimson team has not been felt by the local fans.

M'ALLISTER IN NEW YORK BOUT THIS EVENING

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Persons who enthuse over clever boxing by championship contenders will have an inning at Madison Square Garden tonight, when Bob McAllister of San Francisco will try conclusions with Mike Gibbons of St. Paul in a ten round battle at 162 pounds ringside. When McAllister easily outpointed Battling Levinsky here last week Jimmy Johnston pronounced him the best boxer developed in California since Jim Corbett's time. In looking around for a suitable opponent Matchmaker Gibson, it is believed, made a ten strike in securing Gibbons, who is conceded to be a past master in fast cuffs, even though he will meet the Californian at a disadvantage.

"Brooklyn Will Not Lose Single Player"

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—"We will not lose a single player," said Vice-President McKeever of the Brooklyn club. "Some of our boys have received Federal League offers, but they will not accept them. They know that the Brooklyn club has treated them liberally and will continue to pay good salaries, no matter what happens. The Federal League cannot expect to be a major circuit without a club in Greater New York, and to establish one there would involve an outlay of at least $400,000.

"In my opinion the Feds are planning to cut into the American Association and the International League so that in time they can gain admission to organized baseball in Class A. A.

Do You Want This Kind of a Man for Mayor?

The following is an account of a recent speech by James M. Curley, published in the Boston Post. Read it, fellow citizens, and then learn the kind of a man who seeks to be the Mayor of Boston, the Boston which was honored and revered by such men as Samuel Adams, John Hancock, Benjamin Franklin, Governor Sullivan, Charles Sumner, Hugh O'Brien, Edward Everett, James Jeffrey Roche, John Boyle O'Reilly, Daniel Webster, Patrick A. Collins, Colonel Cass and thousands of other sober, dignified, self-respecting men.

FROM BOSTON POST SEPT. 23, 1911

Uproarious scenes which resulted in the turning of a riot call for a platoon of police, the timely arrival of which prevented a pitched battle among a crowd of nearly five thousand people, marked a rally held in the Old Franklin schoolhouse on Washington street near Dover last night. Congressman Curley during the fracas called opponents to his candidate "doormat thieves," and they replied him by calling him "liar" and "jail bird."

CURLEY TAKES OFF HIS COAT

Curley had in the meantime removed his coat, vest, collar and necktie. * * * His opponents continued to cheer and Curley turned upon them and called them blackguards, thieves and thugs and pickpockets, crapshooters and doormat thieves. * * *

Congressman Curley began his speech, pointing at the opposing faction in one corner with these words, "Now you pickpockets and crapshooters I am going to make myself heard if it takes until 6 o'clock in the morning, when you fellows are out working at your occupation of stealing milk. * * * Now you Tammanyites mix in with this gang of crapshooters and the first one that opens his face plug him." At this threat a big crowd of the speaker's friends rushed to the platform and stood grouped about Curley as he proceeded with his speech. "And I want to tell you crapshooters I have enough Tammany men here with me to take charge here."

PREDICTS HE WILL BE MAYOR

"I have introduced into Congress a bill for free trade with Argentine Republic and now that reciprocity has been beaten, two billions through there are not enough Donovans, Kelihers, Doyles in this city to lick me for Mayor of this town."

When Curley finished talking the police cleared the hall.

This was no sudden or unusual outburst of anger on the part of Mr. Curley. It is a habit, a characteristic. He repeated the same speech in South Boston on another occasion. He was a member of Congress. He was speaking at a great public meeting with nearly five thousand people present. He knew that what he said as a Congressman at a great meeting in a political campaign would be published broadcast in the papers. But respect for his office, respect for his people, and respect for himself did not restrain him.

It was her cross to be childless. Yet for twenty-five years the hunger within her had been stifled. Friendship for the presence of a baby head at her breast. She had a passion for maternity—and that passion had been stifled. Her heart cried for a child—and she had denied that heart-entreaty into silence!

If You Did Not See Opening Instalments Read This First

MARY O'NEILL begins her story by telling of how her father, born in Ellan, the son of peasants, had gone to America, become rich, and had then returned to his birthplace, where he married the daughter of Captain O'Neill, of the O'Neills, and had changed his name from Daniel Neals to Daniel O'Neill. She tells of her own birth and of her father's disappointment for if a boy had been born he would have been Lord Ras, by right of his mother.

She tells of Father Dan, the priest, and of her mother, an invalid from her earliest memory, and of her Aunt Bridget, who came to keep house for Daniel O'Neill and brought with her her daughter and her stepdaughter. Her aunt soon came to run the house and to dominate over Mary and her mother and to make them both very unhappy.

Her closest friend is the son of Dr. Conrad, a boy named Martin, whose greatest delight is to play he is an explorer.

One day Mary and Martin go "exploring" in a boat and land on a rock. Their boat floats away and late at night they are found, still asleep in each other's arms. It is decided, against her mother's protests, to send Mary to a convent in Rome. She travels in care of Father Dan, the priest, and on the journey she meets young Lord Ras. He tries to kiss her and she strikes him in the face, but finally, at the intercession of Father Dan, she offers him her lips.

At the convent she is put in charge of Sister Angela and makes a friend of a girl named Mildred Bankes. She greatly admires an American girl named Miss Iloe, but one day her idol makes fun of her and her heart is nearly broken.

Alma, however, finds that she is one of the O'Neills of Ellan and tells her that she will be her friend.

Mary plays at the convent during the holidays. On the return of the other pupils she innocently tells Alma of some things which have happened, of which Alma gives her own version to the Reverend Mother, as a result of which Sister Angela leaves and Alma is taken away by her mother.

Two years and a half pass away and Mary is preparing for her first communion when, one day, the Reverend Mother tells her that her mother is very ill and that she is to go home at once.

CHILDREN DYING OF HUNGER AND COLD IN BALKANS

LONDON, Jan. 12—After five months spent in the Balkans in relief work among starving refugees, Louis Lake, representing the Macedonian Relief Fund, has returned to London.

He gives out to be taken to the AMERICAN correspondent today, a story of suffering and privation, the like of which, he says, has not been paralleled in modern times.

Lake says that the people of Macedonia, Albania and Montenegro are dying by the thousands from starvation and exposure. Typhoid, cholera and smallpox are epidemic among the refugees in terrible fashion, and the situation is rapidly assuming a more serious aspect.

Many cases of mothers and fathers are found in the last stages of starvation, the parents having given their own portions to their children.

By HARRY P. CASSIDY.

Attorney-General McReynolds has started an investigation through the Department of Justice at Washington directed against the meat packers in Chicago to learn if they control the shipments of meat from the various Republics and if they constitute a combination in restraint of trade.

The packers are said promptly to state the amount of consignments they have contracted for with foreign countries.

The steamship officials are required to disclose their connections with packers. The various acts relative to obtaining this information and such data as was obtained by Attorney-General Bonaparte preliminary to the prosecution of the packers will be used in so far as it would be possible to present the packers in the garb of controlling trade and monopolizing a commodity in southern states.

LATEST STOCK MARKETS

By W. H. ROSS, Financial Editor

Stocks opened with gains and ranged higher during the morning. Later the good tone was maintained, but in the afternoon business had become quiet. The New York market was then dull, but advances there included Texas Co. 2, Southern Pacific ½, Union Pacific ½, Reading ¾, Lehigh Valley 2¼, New Haven 2, American Telephone 1¼, American Can ½, Steel 1 and Amalgamated ½. Canadian Pacific had shaded Baltimore & Ohio was unchanged.

In the Boston market New Haven was the only big road that was higher, it the latter selling at 52. Boston Elevated was unchanged at 96. Reading ¾, Lehigh Valley 2¼, New Haven 2, American Telephone 1¼, American Can ½, Steel 1 and Amalgamated ½. Canadian Pacific had shaded. Baltimore & Ohio was unchanged.

NEW YORK OPENED STRONG.

Stocks ranged higher in New York at the opening and the tone was good. The Saturday bank statement, which showed around $20,000,000 in surplus reserve, was a big factor, and the statement of the United States Steel Corporation as to unfilled December tonnage was better than had been expected, although showing a decrease of around 111,000 tons. There has been an improvement in the iron and steel industries, it is understood. Another influence which sustained prices was the report that President Wilson will not interfere in his recommendations regarding "Big business" when he addresses Congress on the trust question.

TEXAS CO. A FEATURE.

The record-point rise of Texas Co. was no early feature. The rumor that Standard Oil interests have additional control of the former corporation is persistently circulated. At its first four high the range was 4 points above its Saturday opening price. It soon lost several of its gains.

Steel was strong because of better trade conditions. New Haven rose substantially on the theory that a understanding that the ruling between it and the Department of Justice was in accord. Several independent steel issues showed gains. U. S. preferred was in more demand.

The market was active during the first hour's transactions, totalling nearly 120,000 shares and continued so for the balance of the forenoon. Among the issues to influence during that period was California Petroleum, rising 1¾. There had been free offerings of stock on the early advance, but the demand exceeded the supply and the New York closed strong.

"The Street" seemed filled with rumors and bulls who had been expecting a reaction at once began to buy stocks, and some of them had substantial profits to show for their efforts, in the hope of making a little turn on the reaction.

STEEL HAD LONDON SUPPORT.

Americans in London had been irregular, with more support being accorded Steel than most others. That market had a better tone, and the Paris Bourse Liquidation is over there. Not only has the reduction of the Bank of England rate had a good effect in regard to speculative sentiment, but it is expected that it will be reduced one per cent. more soon. Buying of steel was checked there to some extent by selling orders from New York.

Travelers in the big American market were much interested in the reconvening of Congress, and by noon there was a disposition to profit-take. It was learned whether the United State Supreme Court was to render any important decision today.

The market was quiet at midday when news came from Washington that the Supreme Court would hear arguments on the tap line cases on February 24 and would render its opinion today which would be likely to have any influence upon the stock market.

Jersey Central was a strong stock, selling at 110 and 2 higher than at the last previous transaction. When Mexican Petroleum touched 94¾ it was 1¼ above its final Saturday price. By midday the call rate was 2¼.

BOSTON & MAINE STRONG.

Boston & Maine was strong when the local market began, selling up to 55 for a gain of three points within a few minutes. At the end of an hour it had receded some. New Haven was also materially higher, while there were good gains for United Fruit, American Telephone and Boston Elevated. Business in mines was fairly brisk, and advances ruled in price a point were Lake, Mohawk and Butte & Superior. There were fractional advances during the morning for American Zinc, East Butte, Old Colony, Pond Creek, Shannon and Superior, while United States Smelting declined a little.

Osceola directors have declared a quarterly dividend of $1 a share, half of the amount distributed three months since, and one-third of the year ago dividend.

The Boston bank statement shows an increase of $7,225,000 in surplus reserve.

FINANCIAL NEWS IN BRIEF.

There was little buying of electrolytic in London this morning and most large interests were offering it at 14.50 cents a pound. The copper warrants market was firm, with spot up 7s. 6d. and futures 6s. higher. The market turned easy and at the close spot and futures were each off 1s. 6d. Sales were the tons of spot and 1,000 of futures.

A Mail Lake dispatch says that production by the Utah Copper Company for December will exceed 19,000,000 pounds, compared with 11,131,658 in November.

The New York Stock Exchange's annual report shows 1,222,000 to 1,658 new listings issued in 1913, and total outstanding contracts of over $2,378,000,000, both items showing large increases compared with 1912.

During 1913 the United Verde Copper Company produced 19,759,880 pounds of copper.

CARPENTER

Progressive Attack on R. R. Combines

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—An attack upon two of the greatest railroad systems in the country, the New York Central and the Pennsylvania, was begun on behalf of the Progressive party in the House today by the introduction of resolutions by Representative Hinebaugh of Illinois. The first resolution, which provides for a complete Congressional investigation of the New York Central system, was referred to the Committee on Interstate Commerce. The second resolution, which calls for an investigation of the Pennsylvania railroad system, was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

Hinebaugh declared that the New York Central system is a menace to the welfare of the country and that the Pennsylvania railroad system is a menace to competition.

LATEST STOCK MARKETS

By W. H. ROSS, Financial Editor

Stocks opened with gains and moved higher during the morning. Later on, some was established, but in the afternoon business had become quiet. The New York market was dull, but advances there included Texas Co. 2, Southern Pacific ½, Colorado & Southern ¾, Lehigh Valley 7-8, New Haven 2, American Telephone 1¼, American Can ¾, Steel I and Amalgamated ¾, Canadian Pacific 1¼, shaded, Baltimore & Ohio was unchanged.

The Boston market New Haven was then up 1¾ and Boston & Maine 1. The Boston Elevated had increased its gain to 2, United Fruit one ¼, and Western Telephone ¼ higher. Osceola had advanced by the same amount but on part of its earlier gain but was ¾ above Saturday's closing price, while Calumet & Arizona was down ¾.

NEW YORK OPENED STRONG.

Prices ranged higher in New York at the opening and the tone was good. The Saturday bank statement, which showed around $20,000,000 in surplus reserve, was a full factor and the statement of the United States Steel Corporation as to unfilled December tonnage was better than had been expected, although showing a decrease of around 114,000 tons. There has been an improvement in the demand and steel industries, it is understood. Another influence which stimulated prices was the report that President Wilson will be emphatic in his recommendations regarding "Big Business" when he addresses Congress on the trust question.

TEXAS CO. A FEATURE.

The early point rise of Texas Co. was an early feature. The rumor that financial Oil interests have obtained control of the former corporation is undoubtedly circulated. The first buyer high the issue was twelve points above the Saturday's closing price. It soon lost several of its gains.

Steel was strong because of better trade conditions. New Haven rose substantially on the strength of the recent ruling that the trolley agreement and the impairment of Boston & Maine is sound. Several industrial issues showed gains. U. S. preferred was in more demand.

Professional trading was active during the first hour's transactions, totalling over 250,000 shares, and continued so for the balance of the forenoon. Among the issues to advance during the period were California Petroleum 1¼ and Chino 1¾. There had been free offerings of stock on the early part of the session, but the demand exceeded the supply. One New York dispatch said: "The Street seemed disposed to discount bullish news, which had been expected in connection with the movement

Curley Reveals Himself

A portrait of James M. Curley, drawn by himself, was published in the Boston Post of September 23, 1911. It is reproduced here.

Gaze on it, fellow citizens! Then remember the men who revered and honored Boston and were revered and honored by Boston men like John Adams, Benjamin Franklin, John Hancock, Governor Sullivan, Daniel Webster, Charles Sumner, John Boyle O'Reilly, James Jeffrey Roche, Edward Everett Hale, Colonel Cox, Patrick A. Collins and thousands of other self-respecting, dignified men.

FROM THE BOSTON POST, SEPT. 23, 1911.

Uproarious scenes which resulted in the turning of a riot call for a platoon of police, the timely arrival of which prevented a pitched battle among a crowd of nearly five thousand people, marked a rally held in the Old Franklin schoolhouse on Washington street near Dover last night. Congressman Curley during the fracas called opponents to his candidate "doormat thieves," and they replied to him by calling him "liar" and "jail bird."

Curley had in the meantime removed his coat, vest, collar and necktie * * * * His opponents continued to cheer and Curley turned upon them and called them blackguards, thieves and thugs and pickpockets, crapshooters and doormat thieves * * * *

Congressman Curley began his speech, pointing at the opposing faction in one corner with these words, "Now you pickpockets and crapshooters, I am going to make myself heard if it takes until 6 o'clock in the morning, when you fellows are out working at your occupation of stealing milk * * * * Now you Tammanyites mix in with this gang of crapshooters and the first one that opens his face plug him." At this threat a big crowd of the speaker's friends rushed to the platform and stood grouped about Curley as he proceeded with his speech. "And I want to tell you crapshooters I have enough Tammany men here with me to take charge here.

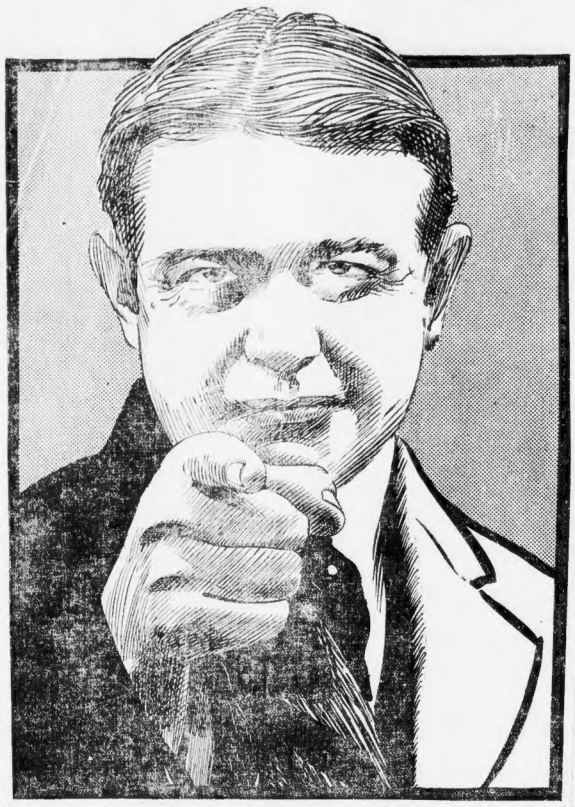
"I have introduced into Congress a bill for free trade with Argentine Republic and now that reciprocity has been beaten, if my bill goes through there are not enough Donovans, Kelihers, Doyles in this city to lick me for Mayor of this town."

When Curley finished talking the police cleared the hall.

This was no sudden or unusual outburst of anger on the part of Curley. It is a habit, a characteristic. He repeated the same speech in South Boston on another occasion. He was a member of Congress. He was speaking at a great public meeting with nearly five thousand people present. He knew that what he said as a Congressman at a great meeting in a political campaign would be published broadcast in the papers. But respect for his office, respect for his people, and respect for himself did not restrain him. He announced his candidacy for Mayor at this very meeting where he made such an exhibition of himself.

Vote for Boston by Voting Against Curley.

YOU! YES, YOU, MR. VOTER



When YOU Vote Tomorrow, Think What Is Best for YOUR Wives, YOUR Children, YOUR Homes

YOU Voters of Boston:

Tomorrow is election day.

You choose YOUR city government on that day.

A GOOD city government is far more important to YOU than both the National and State governments together.

It builds YOUR streets for YOU and lights and maintains them.

It supplies YOU with good water and carries away YOUR sewage.

Its health department protects YOU from disease; its hospitals take YOU when you are sick.

Its police protect YOUR property and body from lawlessness and violence.

Its fire department protects YOUR homes from fire.

Its school department educates YOUR children and has already given tens of thousands of YOU YOUR education.

It gives YOU YOUR pleasure parks.

It gives YOU YOUR Zoological Gardens, YOUR Aquarium, YOUR Botanical Gardens, YOUR band concerts, YOUR fireworks.

It regulates the morals of YOUR places of amusements. It touches YOU in every phase of YOUR life.

It is life and light, all in all.

Tomorrow is the day when YOU decide whom YOU shall entrust to be YOUR chief city father.

It is a solemn day. Do not neglect it. Do not forget it.

YOU should go to the polls early and choose YOUR city father in the spirit in which YOU would choose YOUR own guardian or the guardian for YOUR children.

The AMERICAN believes that if YOU go to the polls tomorrow in this spirit YOU will vote for Thomas J. Kenny.

Why the "Powers" Fear "The Ploughman"

By REV. C. F. AKED, D. D.

WILL LEVINGTON COMFORT, in his new book, "Down Among Men," crystallizes a world-movement into a single tragic incident. He sings the Epic of the Ploughman.

The masses of mankind are at last beginning to rebel against the blood-tax imposed upon them by rulers whom they scorn and hate. The masters of many legions will not be masters forever. It is doubtful whether they are masters today. Sir Edward Grey, Secretary of State in King George's Cabinet, has been warmly praised for the masterly policy which, a year ago, kept the war in the Balkans within bounds and prevented a European conflict that would not have ended until a continent was drenched with blood.

The real keeper of the peace of Europe, however, was not Sir Edward Grey, but "the Ploughman" of Will Levington Comfort's story. The "Powers" were afraid of war. They were afraid of what the vast armaments which they have built up at such incredible expense. They were not sure of their own armies. They could not depend upon the soldier stuff they had to employ.

The curse of conscription hangs like a pall over the nations beyond the seas. But the people are in full revolt. France multiplies penalties upon the men who preach to the conscripts the gospel of disobedience. Under the British ban, Australia and New Zealand imprison boys who will not submit to compulsory military training. Yet the movement gathers strength every day.

This is how Will Levington Comfort tells the story of the "Ploughman."

It is during the Russo-Japanese war. The Russian forces have been defeated in a pitched battle. Soldiers are running away like sheep. In vain the officers try to rally their panic-stricken commands. Luban, a young officer, who has lost his nerve, is yet trying to stay the rout. Fallows is an American war correspondent who sees and understands and compels us to see:

"Out of the grain came striding a tall soldier of the ranks. His beard was black, his eyes very blue. The man's broad shoulders were thrust back; his face clean of cowardice, clean as the grain and as open to the sky. His head was erect and bare; he carried no gun, scorned the pretence of looking for wounds.

"All this Fallows saw. It was illumination to him—the hour of his great reception. Luban, just insulted by the other infantrymen, now faced the big, blithe presence, emerging unhurried from the grain. Luban raised his voice:

"'And what are you sneaking back for?'

"'I am not sneaking——'

"'Rotten soldier stuff—you should be shot down.'

"'I am not a soldier—I am a ploughman.'

"'You are here to fight——'

"'They forced me to come——'

"'Forced you to fight for your Fatherland?'

"'This is not my Fatherland, but a strange country'——

"'You are here for the Fatherland'——

"'I have six children in Russia. The Fatherland is not feeding them. My field is not ploughed.'

"Luban must have broken altogether. Fallows, listening, watching the Ploughman with his soul, did not turn. Now the man's face changed. The lips parted strangely, the eyelids lifting. Distress wavered between the eyes of the Ploughman and the eyes of Fallows. Luban's pistol cracked and the man fell with a sob.

"Fallows was kneeling among the soaked roots of the millet, holding the soldier in his arms."

The masses of mankind have no interest in war. The millions of men, armed to the teeth, standing at attention along all the borders of Europe today, whom the kings and Kaisers believe they command, are growing in intelligence every year. Conscripts they are, slaves of the hereditary military despotisms under which they were born.

But "the schoolmaster is abroad." Education manumits. First it frees the slave. Then the conscript learns he is a man. The soldier has his "fatherland." But it is not the "fatherland" of which the court lackeys prate. Soon the "ploughman" of Russia will speak to the "ploughman" of Austria, and the artisan of France to the artisan of Germany will speak a language which all hearts can understand.

A Poet's Preaching to the Rich

It Will Do Some Good for a Change—Although Prose Is Usually Better Than Poetry in Our Day

COPYRIGHT, 1913, by the Star Company

The most tiresome of living creatures—and that is saying a good deal—is the prosperous man or woman who lectures the poor on their shortcomings.

A woman, very comfortable in her well-padded automobile, with a footman to open the door and a maid waiting when she gets home, will say to some unhappy woman with a half dozen children and a worthless husband, "You might at least keep your house CLEAN; surely, water does not cost anything."

And you will hear her tell the mother of the children that she could at least teach the children to be polite, for politeness also "costs nothing." She goes away giving or not giving some trifling sum as the humor seizes her.

The days of useful poets in our opinion are gone. Poetry is childishness, an aid to memory, a substitute for thought that relies upon no fancy trimmings for its power.

But occasionally, as we are still children, a thought expressed in rhyme is pleasing.

For those that dislike the solemn preaching of the rich to the poor, we print today some lines from John Masefield's "The Everlasting Mercy."

Masefield tells of hypocritical, ignorant charity as it is in England.

It is not very different in any big city.

The rich and prosperous know as little about the miserable poor as the elephant knows about the insect that he crushes as he walks along.

Here are the lines from Masefield. You will like them:

"And you whom luck taught French and Greek
Have purple flaps on either cheek,
A stately house, and time for knowledge,
And gold to send your sons to college,
That pleasant place, where getting learning
Is also key to money earning,
But quite your damnedest want of grace
Is what you do to save your face.
The way you sit astride the gates
By padding wages out of rates;
Your Christmas gifts of shoddy blanket
That every working soul may thank it;
Loving parson, loving squire
Through whom he can't afford a fire.
Your well-packed bench, your prison pen,
To keep them something less than men;
Your friendly clubs to help 'em bury,
Your charities of midwifery.
Your bidding children duck and cap
To them who give them workhouse pap.
O, what you are, and what you preach,
And what you do, and what you teach
Is not God's Word, nor honest schism,
But Devil's cant and pauperism."

The Science of History

By REV. T. B. GREGORY

THIS publication, one hundred and eighty-nine years ago, of Vico's "Scienza Nuova"—"New Science"—cleared the way for the mighty course of human thought now known as the "Philosophy of History," which in the hands of such men as Montesquieu, Buckle, Lecky, Draper and others, was to work out such splendid results.

Giovanni Battista Vico, the son of a poor bookseller of Naples, was born in 1668. At an early age he manifested the ability which usually belongs only to men of mature age, and while still a young man he demonstrated a profound acquaintance with history, philosophy, science and jurisprudence.

Vico was the first to ask: "Why have we a science of Nature, but no science of History?" and the "Scienza Nuova" was the great man's answer to that all-important question. In the course of his book he developed the idea that Man, as well as the material world in the midst of which he moves, is subject to law—a law of the reasoning, unerring, unresponding. By [illegible] human actions are governed [illegible] in the light of which [illegible] actions must be studied and explained.

The Two Sisters

By VIRGINIA TERHUNE VAN DE WATER

CHAPTER XX.

A [illegible] of the days on which Caryl Marvin lunched with Harry Somerdyke, John Marvin turned with a wan smile to a fellow saleswoman at the lace counter.

"Don't you want to go to lunch now, Miss Mellonough?" she queried. "The rush will be less for the next hour or so, and you must be tired. I know I am."

"I'll be back in half an hour," promised the girl as she hastened away.

Helen's store is one in which the comfort and welfare of employes receive some consideration, so there were, here and there, chairs behind the various counters, and a saleswoman was allowed to sit down when there were no customers at her counter. Julia sank into a chair and closed her eyes. It had been a hard morning, and would-be buyers had been, it seemed to her, more exacting than usual. Her head ached; her back was tired; her feet were swollen with much standing. She felt so tragic that she felt as if she could go to sleep here and now.

She aroused herself with a start and looked down the length of the long, little lace counter. Three other girls in her department were grouped together chatting and giggling, ignoring the disordered condition of the stock. With a sudden sigh Julia arose and set to work to straighten out the tumbled mercery. So occupied was she in her task that she did not see a man who, passing down the aisle, stopped short with a smothered exclamation. He stood in front of her for a half minute before, lifting her head, she saw him.

"What can I do for you, sir?" she asked automatically, coming forward.

The man hesitated. "I beg your pardon," he said, "but surely I must be mistaken, I—excuse me, but aren't you Miss Julia Marvin?"

"Yes," answered Julia, amazed. "I am, but you have the advantage of me. I do not know you."

"But what are you doing here?" he blurted out impetuously. The question did not sound impertinent, coming from him, for he was evidently embarrassed, and even in her surprise the girl took note of his courteous bearing and indefinable air of good breeding.

"Perhaps," she said gravely, "if you will tell me who you are it will be easier to explain matters."

"My name is Kelley Delaine," he told her. "Your sister—I think—is in my employ as stenographer. I have also had the pleasure of seeing you once before, but possibly you may not remember."

"I don't remember your face," the girl confessed frankly, "but I do remember that I am under a debt of gratitude to you, Mr. Delaine. My sister told me yesterday that you were the man who saved her life the night that the car nearly ran over."

"But what," persisted the author, "are you doing in this place? Are you trying to get local color—or what?"

"I'm working here," Julia replied simply.

"Of course, I see that," persisted the man, "but why?"

"To get bread and butter," responded Julia. She was not ashamed of the truth, yet she faltered a little as she continued, "I am earning my own living, you know."

"But your sister," began Delaine, puzzled, then checked himself.

"You see, my sister had a little money of her own and she spent it in learning stenography," she explained, mistaking the cause of his wonder.

"I see," said Delaine slowly, dropping his eyes before her frank gaze. "Then you are alone in the city, he added, "you and your sister."

"Quite alone," Julia affirmed. Even as she spoke she wondered that she felt no resentment at this strange man's questions and evident interest in her affairs.

"I see," Delaine repeated. "Have you ever written anything for publication, Miss Marvin?"

The girl laughed out in surprise at the question. "I?" she exclaimed. "No, indeed! I only wish I had the ability to do something more worthy than standing behind a counter. But I haven't." Then, as she spoke, she became aware that the other saleswomen at her counter were looking in her direction, and her manner changed quickly. "Is there any special kind of lace that you are looking for, Mr. Delaine?" she asked stiffly.

The man ignored her question, and spoke stammeringly. "I hope you won't be angry with me," he said, "though you have a right to be, I suppose, but would you think it rank impertinence, Miss Marvin, if I were to beg you to consider our former meeting as an introduction, and to ask you to go to luncheon with me this noon?"

Then he stopped, flushing scarlet as he remembered that he was doing the very thing for which he had snubbed Harry Somerdyke only an hour ago.
